Introduction of ORGANIT Ltd.

- ☞ Our company is engaged in research, production and sales of humic acid and fulvic acid based products for more than 15 years
- ☞ Quality of our products satisfies the highest requirements. Our market shares continuously increase in EU countries as well as in Arabic countries
- ☞ We are a member of the International Peat Society IPS  (I am the president of the Hungarian chemical section) and also a member of the International Humic Substance Society (IHSS, Denver USA)
- ☞ We offer different grades of purified humic acid and fulvic acid products ranging from plant and soil conditioners to mineral fodders
- ☞ In our own research laboratory we continuously apply the newest scientific results when developing new products and applications

Leonardite

ADCSH Leonardite is a unique raw material developed by ADCSH. It is a highly effective humic acid product with a high degree of purity. It is used in various industries, including agriculture, horticulture, and pharmaceuticals. It is also used as a soil amendment and fertilizer.

Kitermelés

ADCSH Leonardite is produced from the Leonardite deposit located in the Tisza River valley, Hungary. The deposit is approximately 100 million years old and contains high concentrations of organic matter. The Leonardite is extracted and processed to remove impurities and then dried.

ADCSH Leonardite is used in various industries, including agriculture, horticulture, and pharmaceuticals. It is also used as a soil amendment and fertilizer.

Tözeg Peat

ADCSH Peat is a natural organic material derived from peat bogs. It is used as a soil amendment and fertilizer. It is also used in various industries, including agriculture, horticulture, and pharmaceuticals.

ADCSH Peat is produced from the Tisza River valley, Hungary. The deposit is approximately 100 million years old and contains high concentrations of organic matter. The Peat is extracted and processed to remove impurities and then dried.

ADCSH Osidák ötje is a natural organic material derived from osidák. It is used as a soil amendment and fertilizer. It is also used in various industries, including agriculture, horticulture, and pharmaceuticals.

About humic substances

- ☞ Humic substances are the biological-chemical-geological decomposition products of the plant biomass.
- ☞ Scientific publications and human medical research results designate natural humic substances as “alternative antibiotics” and „natural antiviral” ingredients.
- ☞ Natural humic substances are complex and multifunctional natural ingredients without side effects and harmful residues.
- ☞ The production of humic acid based products depends strongly on the raw material. Natural humic acid deposits are very rare in the whole world. One of the best quality raw material (leonardite and peat) sources can be found in Hungary.

Soil & Plant conditioning

- ☞ Humic substances based products satisfy the challenges of intensive cultivation and organic farming which are frequently referred to as the „black gold” of agriculture.
- ☞ A wide range of our products, i.e. soil conditioner, fertilizer enhancer and immune system improvers offer a cost effective solution for production of healthier, more attractive and tastier plants, fruits.

Animal feed supplement

- ☞ The so-called civilization diseases of human beings and animals (immune system problems, stress, allergy, tumors, etc.) are caused mostly by micronutrient deficiencies. Modern sciences develop and understand humic molecules and call them frequently as „natural antiviral molecules” or as „alternative antibiotics”.
- ☞ Due to intensive breeding where animals are often completely deprived of their natural living conditions (including sexuality), the scale of anomalies in the field of veterinary hygiene, immune system development is increasing. Our humic acid based products help to form a stronger immune system while improving nutrient utilization and decreasing production costs.
